How to make a paper crown

What you need:

A piece of paper

A pair of scissors

Some glue or cellotape

Some colouring crayons

What you do:

_____, take your piece of paper and fold it in half lengthways.

_____, run your fingers along the fold to make the crease really clear.

After that, take your scissors and open up the paper to cut along the fold. Remember to cut it carefully, scissors can be dangerous. You should now have your two pieces of paper.

_____, take your glue or cellotape and stick the two ends together to make a long piece of paper.

Now, pick up your scissors again and cut zig-zag shapes into your crown all the way across the strip of paper. Then colour it in with your design.

_____, put it around your head and stick it together.
